The Sunday Capital Washington D C Doon Pratt editor though out and out democratic says of the recent attempt in the New York Sun and other like newspapers to slander Gen Garfield

Gen Garfield personally considered is unquestionably pure and upright He is one of the few men in public life who can look his beautiful little wife and lovely children in the face without shame As to his military record all his public life and we can advise the mud machines called the partisan press that attempts a blackening Garfield's character will be signal failures and will be the cause of protests from such eminent democrats as the Hon Jeremiah Black Allen Thurman and Justice Field who have already put their names on record in his behalf Garfield's purity is so thorough that it gives him a perfect confidence a name and has gotten him into trouble principally as a consulting boy getting into scrapes. In that Credit Mobilier affair for example we know, and have so testified that at the very time it was claimed he was scheming to earn himself through Ames speculative he was skinning about Washington trying to borrow $300 to pay house rent," and so ignorant of the commonest financial process that he did not know how to negotiate an ordinary note of hand He had not only lived up the open air but has been paid positions where like other leaders he could have winked himself into millions He holds to-day the honored position of being the only poor man among political leaders.

George Alfred Townsend in the Cincinnati Inquirer (Democratic, has these interesting items

The writer has known General Garfield pretty well for 18 years He is a large, pretified hale ruddy, brown bearded man, weighing about 220 pounds with Ohio German colors blue eyes militia face erect figure and shoulders, large back and thighs, and broad chest, and evidently bred in the country on a farm His large mouth is full of strong teeth his nose thin and brows are strongly pronounced A large oration with reason for play of thought and close application rises high above his clear discernible, enjoying eyes He sometimes suggests a county Samson—strong beyond his knowledge but unguarded as a schoolboy He pays little attention to the affectation by which some men manage public opinion and has one kind of behavior for all callers which is the most natural behavior at hand Strangers would think him a little cold and mentally shy On acquaintance he is said to be busy above everything loving the life around him his family his friends his state and country One of his marks an entire absence of non balance or weakness in his nature He is never different never vindictive A hasty action or ingratitude or cruelty makes him sad but does not provoke retaliation nor alter that faith in men or Providence which is a part of his constitution and is able to lead Garfield is simple as a child to his surprise was done he is a strategist Having no measure aptitude with the weapons of coarse natures he often avoids mere disputes does not go to public resorts where men are familiar or vulgar and the walk from his home in Washington to the capitol and an occasional dinner out comprise his life The average American pursuing money all day long is now prejudiced to a man who but invariably puts the business of its affairs above his own and worked for it at all generous and considerate qualities in a high public life But he has not labored when he need

The great moment of his life was to-day to secure and retain a man as ever we shed well of anybody and put his reputation to the rubber when Garfield's brain position is joined enough with the warmth of his character while it is and responsibility To lay as he does a telegram come from over where saying strong things to him—such a message daily A man living in the rarest good impulse upon a token from the war with two members in the senate opening and reading, as suddenly has two boys set him one—little fellow at school—and he be read the letter and tried to talk but his voice choked and he could not see for tears The children began to bustle over a paper to which they afterwards added This sense of reverence with which to tell country and duty proves the legislative ability His house was one of the handsomest in Ohio Lake Erie shells of a New England family transplanted to the wilderness beauty trees and surrounding with the finest flowers and evergreens eight children and a wife who was Lucretia Rudolph a new Puritan blood and a new Puritan name Garfield naturally all his public life and we can advise the mud machines called the partisan press that attempts a blackening Garfield's character will be signal failures and will be the cause of protests from such eminent democrats as the Hon Jeremiah Black Allen Thurman and Justice Field who have already put their names on record in his behalf Garfield's purity is so thorough that it gives him a perfect confidence a name and has gotten him into trouble principally as a consulting boy getting into scrapes. In that Credit Mobilier affair for example we know, and have so testified that at the very time it was claimed he was scheming to earn himself through Ames speculative he was skinning about Washington trying to borrow $300 to pay house rent," and so ignorant of the commonest financial process that he did not know how to negotiate an ordinary note of hand He had not only lived up the open air but has been paid positions where like other leaders he could have winked himself into millions He holds to-day the honored position of being the only poor man among political leaders.

Renegade Swashes Found in Indian Valley, Idaho

BOISE CITY June 29—Mr John V Wilkinson of Indian valley has brought in a petition signed by all the citizens of the valley addressed to Col Parnell of Boise Barracks setting forth that two squaws but recently captured a set several blackssen in the mountains surrounding the valley and that several citizens had mistreated with some Indians on Crooked river a few days before and James Summers had been wounded in the scuffle Portland to Southern Oregon If this is confirmed then I am ready to deliver myself up and give bonds to appear and answer before the grand jury for the same.

To conclusion, I said always believed that the entire citizens of Portland were anxious for railroad connection with Western and so thousand Oregon and were from the same will assure regret however to find it is not so on the part of a few gentlemen said that the foreign capitalist who come here to build certain railroads in Oregon have had to put on the legal power to fight tooth and nail the policy of certain citizens and that in the face of a law which clearly authorizes this railroad company to locate our depot grounds on the line prior to the grounds of the city I remain obedient and very servant

GEN COFFIN RELIEVED TO EXPLAIN THE PUBLIC LEVEE QUESTION

DAYTON Or June 1 1880

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I have been much interested in the discussion going on in the Portland papers about the disposition of the public levee As the original donor of the tract of land I know no motive about the objection in making that gift I intended that the levee should be a free public one for commerce to go in and out of the city free to all citizens and persons trading in or with Portland no matter whether they lived in Portland Washington Territory California Oregon I never for one moment supposed that the gift that I made of that piece of land could be sold by the city for money and made a speculation and I don't think the law will ever allow it to be done The people of the Willamette valley have as much interest in that property as the people of Portland and if it is in such a condition that the city can sell it or lease it, I think I have the best right to the lease

It may be said tha the city paid me a few years ago, the sum of $2500 for that land It is true the city did pay me that sum of money but it was for my ferry franchise which I had reserved, as that was the only interest I then had in the land for if I had possessed the title to the levee I could have sold it for ten times what the city gave me But if the city can sell it now I will be glad to pay back the $2 00 and interest thereon I never speculated off of the city of Portland and can decidedly opposed to the city converting my donation to the public into a city speculation STEPHEN COFFIN

REPUBLICAN OPINIONS

[From the Wilkesbe re Record of the Times]

The final action compensates and more than compensates for all the blunders, for all delay for all the sneering the republican party was made to suffer during the past week

[From the West Chester (Pa.) Record.]

In every aspect of the case the convention did well General Grant is unacceptable to no element of the republican party and inimical to none of its leaders

[From the Altoona Tribune.]

It is a grand victory for the people, emancipating them from personal dictation It can not be otherwise than gratifying to every republican who has the true interests of the country at stake and the perpetuity of the republican party at heart

[From the Wilmington (Del) News.]

No man in public life at Washington has a better record, and no name that could have been suggested would have met with a warmer response in the hearts of republicans His consistent record his manly utterances his breadth of statesmanship have endeared him to the people, and all send to make an aggressive and enthusiastic campaign which gives every promise of success

[From the Troy Times]

It would not be easy to mention two candidates likely to pull better together in the political harness than Garfield and Arthur These two will prove invincible let the democrats nominate whom they will

[From the Providence Journal]

The national republican convention did not select the pre-eminently greatest name of those presented for its choice of a candidate for the presidency on either on the other hand can it be accused of asking refuge in a nonentity, or sacrificing its natural leaders for the sake of mere availability or harmony to a colorless and mediocre statesman * *

In the prime of life and in the fullness of his faculties, the character experience and attributes of James A Garfield make him in a great measure an ideal American statesman and candidate for the presidency

[From the Cumberland News.]

We hardly believe there could be a stronger man who could have been nominated under the circumstances Personally he is without fear and without reproach Politically he is sound to the core. He has not failed to meet a single issue before the people and on every one has been found on the right side

[From the Pottsville Miners Journal.]

The result of the struggle has been to give the republican party a candidate to whom there is no antagonism a man on whom the adherents of all the minor and fractional factions can unite and with him the good will not only of the masses of his own party but of many of his political opponents

TARGET PRACTICE

PORT TOWNSEND June 1880

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

As your correspondent at Vancouver has given full report of the late rifle contest that point it may not be considered amiss to furnish you with a condensed report of the shooting done at Port Townsend on the 21st, 22d and 23d inst which may be of interest to some of your many readers

The total number of officers and men engaged in target firing during the three days mentioned was 70, and the following are the total scores made by the successful competitors

	SCORE
	200	500	600
	yds	yds	yds	Total Percentage
1st Sergt R M Hickey	118	124	110	352 80 44
Private C R Hannah	116	121	99	335 74 44
1st Sergt Chas Davis	118	111	91	320 71 11
Private Dennis O Keefe	119	124	75	318 70 66

The first two names belong to Co D and the last five to Co B 21st Infantry

These being the four highest scores the persons named will proceed to Vancouver there to compete for places in the department team

The best shooting throughout, however, was made by Sergeant Hickey who had a place in the Creedmoor team last year His scoring on the first day at 200 yards reached 45 out of a possible 50 but next day he overreached this figure by making a score of 47 out of a possible 50

Since Col Pollock took command many needed improvements have been made at the barracks, the building of a new guard house being one of the most important, besides the opening of new springs building of sewers etc all of which contribute to the health and comfort of the soldiers. Considerable excitement has prevailed here late over the report that the magnificent band of the 21st Infantry was likely to be done this summer For the benefit of our citizens and every dweller on the sound it is to be hoped that such a report is true and I have no doubt if they come here and favor us with a few concerts they will certainly have overflowing houses REPORTER

THE CITY OF WILLAMETTE TO TAX THE CITY ATTORNEY

OFFICE OF RAILWAY COMPANY LIMITED PORTLAND June 29 1880

Mr Mallory Attorney at Law

Portland Sir By this you are about to issue warrants for the arrest of certain workmen in Portland and all engaged or employed by this company in the public levee in grading the same for the purpose of building our railway from thence by a point of connection with those two lines of railway we are now actually constructing on the east and west sides of the Willamette valley—I called at your office three times to day (without finding you) to say that these workmen earning their daily wages are innocent of any crime and that I look upon the issuing of any such warrants for the arrest of any of the officials of the city property do be unknown for the remains bear no resemblance more closely than chunks of burnt meat Head and limbs were welded by the fierce heat into very small compass The bodies lay also at eight feet apart on part of a horizontal boiler the ordinary position of which was directly beneath the main forward deck where also were the bones of a third How any person ever got their is a mystery unless indeed he or she fell there through the burning deck and there met death a thousand times more horrible than by drowning Under a mass of ruins that spreads out from the hull it is thought other bodies will be found

IDAHO.

Renegade Swashes Found in Indian Valley, Idaho

BOISE CITY June 29—Mr John V Wilkinson of Indian valley has brought in a petition signed by all the citizens of the valley addressed to Col Parnell of Boise Barracks setting forth that two squaws but recently captured a set several blackssen in the mountains surrounding the valley and that several citizens had mistreated with some Indians on Crooked river a few days before and James Summers had been wounded in the scuffle Portland to Southern Oregon If this is confirmed then I am ready to deliver myself up and give bonds to appear and answer before the grand jury for the same.

To conclusion, I said always believed that the entire citizens of Portland were anxious for railroad connection with Western and so thousand Oregon and were from the same will assure regret however to find it is not so on the part of a few gentlemen said that the foreign capitalist who come here to build certain railroads in Oregon have had to put on the legal power to fight tooth and nail the policy of certain citizens and that in the face of a law which clearly authorizes this railroad company to locate our depot grounds on the line prior to the grounds of the city I remain obedient and very servant

The Captain's Statement.

Charles Smith, captain of the Swanhaka was found on the hospital on Randall's Island safe, my from severe burns about the face and arms He said About 4 30 I heard a low dull report or explosion Quick as thought I turned to see what was the matter when I saw the whole forward part of the steamer in the wing or port gangway After hearing as my self the bilge pump I heard a noise and on looking around saw the scurrying out of the fire room I got up and tried to make my way into the fire room but the flames were too much for me We were just 1 mile from Hallet's Island and steaming forward I rolled to the captain who was at the wheel to head for shore. But the shouted back that he could not. I then ran into the cabin for my coat stopped for a moment and took my life preserver and saw that the fire had reached the stern of the boat I climbed over

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING JUNE 30 1880

THE PARTY AND ITS CANDIDATE

The distinctive form of civil service which President Hayes sought to put in force in the noted civil service order No 1 will always meet with great obstacles under the present system of American politics because an executive is in a large sense the creature of the party that elected him and his measures must to the same extent be the measures of his party This doctrine is contained in only a more offensive form perhaps, in the old saying of Jackson that "to the victors belong the spoils If an administration chosen by republicans be put into the hands of democrats it would be a democratic administration and republicans would certainly gain nothing by voting a republican into the office of president if he should not have given some guaranty by his previous record that the policy of his administration would be republican in character The spoils system of the democracy, however, goes further and reaches to every officer whose displacement is in the power of the executive Under it no man however honest and capable can hold official position unless he is a supporter of the administration No matter how great his other qualifications, his tenure of office depends entirely on the complexion of his politics The adherents of the spoils policy go to the full extent of claiming that no republican should hold office under a democratic administration and vice versa. The opponents of the civil service system only claim that the policy of the administration should conform to the principles of the party which elected it One is often injurious to the interests of the people, the other is always beneficial to the strength of the party The one cannot be right the other is wrong unless the interests of the people and the strength of the party are coincident

Hence whatever of good there may be in the character of the democratic candidate Gen Hancock, will not be allowed to overbalance the evil there is in his party, in the minds of the voters of the country Whoever desires national unity, the perpetuity of republican institutions, the supremacy of the policy which carried the country safely through four years of war as well as through a period of the utmost business prostration which has ever upheld the integrity of the government and kept the faith of the nation untarnished a policy under which an era of prosperity has been brought about and made lasting a policy under which the greatest progress is possible will support the party whose record gives a guaranty that it will be continued

These who desire to see the obstructive course which the democratic party has pursued for the last twenty years still kept up, those who are unwilling to recognize the fact that this country has made gigantic strides forward since 1860, those who wanted then a "peaceable" division of this union, those who denounced the war for the union as a failure, and even those who villified Gen Hancock as one of "Lincoln's hirelings and cutthroats" will vote to place democracy in control of the government.

Taking the records of the two candidates as filled up by their past acts, and the country might willingly trust Gen Hancock, but taking the records of the parties which will control them there can be but one course for the men to pursue who supported the government, the men who fought on the same side with both Garfield and Hancock against a large majority of those who are supporting the latter This course is to support the nominee whose party has never failed to rally its forces in favor of equal rights to all men. Educated at the expense of the nation, entirely inexperienced in civil affairs, unacquainted with the wants of the people, unskilled in the maneuverings of politicians there will be good reason to fear that the democratic candidate will, if elected, be guided and controlled by that element in the party without which his election would be absolutely impossible. It is true perhaps, as the Philadelphia Times remarks, that "Hancock is stronger as a candidate than his party" But the country has no assurance that he would be strong enough as president to resist the influences which would surround and hamper his administration from the first. These are facts which all the democratic falsehoods and slanders against Garfield will not drive from the minds of the people, facts which are written upon the hearts of the American people indelibly, and which, as long as the history of the country from 1860 to 1880 is read or remembered, will never be forgotten or ignored. Not that Hancock did not fight the democracy, but that, in an hour of weakness he surrendered what must be his honest convictions whenever he reflects upon the past. Will the people vote to leave him in the place for which they educated him. His party is more of a load than even his record in the war against it will enable him to carry

THE SAME TACTICS

It was not reported by telegraph but exchanges have come to hand which show that the tactics by which the "popular majority of a quarter of a million," was secured in 1876 for the man whose grievances the democratic convention refused to redress, are to be followed in the present canvass The republicans of Montgomery, Ala., called a meeting to ratify the nomination of Garfield and Arthur, and were forcibly dispersed by a democratic mob. Rotten eggs and pistols were the chief arguments used by these "chivalric friends of free speech," and thus will the campaign be carried on wherever democracy is in the ascendant, as it is there The mischief thus done recoils to a great extent on the heads of those who promote and uphold the principles which thus banish from their borders the privileges of using free speech to express conscientious opinions. The press in such a region is of course gagged and one sided, and all who dare to differ from the prevalent party have either to keep a guarded silence or seek their homes in another territory or state where they can express or publish whatever views they may hold, with none to make them afraid

Mr Henry Richard, a member of the British Parliament, recently made a proposition that Great Britain request all the European powers to simultaneously disarm and live in peace and quiet This proposition will, however strike most of these powers as refreshingly absurd To Russia, for instance, reorganizing her army for the inevitable struggle with Austria and Germany, the notion must appear highly unseasonable to Austria strengthening herself against Russia and Italy to its v shrieking for Trieste and the irredenta territory to Germany now on guard lest France should seize Alsace and Lorraine to France competing with all other powers in the extent of her army, a proposition to disarm must appear almost absurd enough to be amusing. Europe has never had more or ... objects to contend for than at present

The levee question is exciting some interest in this city at present. Inasmuch as the levee facilities are somewhat limited by high water just now there are a great many people who are unwilling to give up the few blocks which the city owns for any private purpose. The courts will have to pass upon the question however and it is not our desire to discuss it here

The guns meant in the sixties just what they mean now in the eighties—Hancock and victory —Standard

AT THE FAIR GROUNDS.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN]

SALEM June 29 1880

Accepting an invitation to indulge in a spin out to the Fair ground this morning we were on the road in ample time to catch the early worm had we been disposed, and arrived on the ground in time to see the horses take their forenoon exercise

In and around the stables the scene was a busy one while out upon the track the attractions were of an enlivening character The horses carefully groomed were in some cases, walking leisurely around the track while others were being jogged around simply to warm them up and in other instances the flyers and steppers were being speeded and sent around at a rattling pace Never in the history of the society has there been a better display of horseflesh than there is in training at the Fair ground this season

Redman & Smith have eight magnificent animals in their stables, of which Kisbar a hand some dark bay appears the chief Jimmie Welch the well known trainer has the handling of these animals and we bespeak for them several blue ribbons William Gird has an Eph Maynard colt and two of Autocrat's offsprings all fine animals Miller & Bybee have five running animals including the indomitable Ryestraw who was this morning on the track looking firstrate and fast recovering from his recent lameness Jos Taylor has three fine animals in training and stands a fair show of winning some of the liberal purses offered by the society There are of course dozens of fine animals of which no mention has been made which we doubt not will make a record that will give them merited prominence before the fair closes

The track is in splendid condition and should it remain so there will be some unusually fine time made by the high flyers, between now and July 9 The booths are undergoing repairs and preparations are being made to accommodate all who may come to the fair E F Mathews of the Chemeketa Hotel has leased the Aurora restaurant which fact insures good treatment of all habitues of the place He has secured a small army of assistants and will be able to feed thousands daily, while he can stow away the assembled multitudes in the sleeping apartments of the far famed Chemeketa. The pavilion is likewise undergoing a complete transformation and will be much more conveniently arranged than it was last year, and the display therein will be simply magnificent in detail The walks have their tent erected and many of them are already in training for the match Campers have commenced arriving on the grounds, and all is bustle and confusion The busy hum of the saw and the strokes of the hammer betoken active preparation on every hand. Restaurants are already running and in many instances are doing a thriving business. The swings are on hand and the accompanying violin scraper is under engagement to appear at early dawn on Thursday

The programme for Monday the 5th inst is a stupendous one, and the celebration promises to be the boss of the second century In fact everything betokens an immense success. Even the weather promises well, and we doubt not that the attendance this year will recompense the society for the unparalleled expense attending their annual exhibition of 1880 H E F

PAVILION WILL NOT CLOSE,

E M Waite, secretary of the Oregon State Agricultural Society writes the following note

Some persons are under the impression that on Monday, July 5th the pavilion and other buildings of the society will be closed. This is incorrect, the pavilion and all buildings and stock will be on exhibition the same as any other day of the fair, with the celebration in addition to the usual attractions.

Arrangements of Trains.

The north-bound through train will stop every afternoon at the fair grounds until 5 o'clock as per last year's arrangements. The mail and express car, however will come through, arriving at 4 o clock Passengers will lay over until evening

All week day passenger trains will run on Sunday the 4th of July on schedule time except that the Albany express will leave Albany at 8 A M instead of 5 30 arriving here about 1 P M. The train leaving here at 8 A M. will run through to Roseburg

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JUNE 30, 1880.

MOVED UP STAIRS.

THE OREGONIAN business office has been removed to the editorial room, first door to the left, up stairs. Orders by either line of telephone from 8 A. M. until midnight concerning advertisements or subscriptions will receive prompt attention.

CITY.

PICNIC AND EXCURSION.—The Sunday schools of the Presbyterian and Congregational churches united yesterday in giving a picnic at the White House and an excursion to the falls of the Willamette at Oregon City. The steamboat McCully left this city at 9:30 A. M. and again at one in the afternoon, carrying a large and merry company on each trip to and fro. At the White House the time was spent in rambling on the hills, strawberrying and various picnic sports, the swings and other arrangements of the grounds adding to opportunities of outdoor pleasure. At four o'clock the greater number of the excursionists re-embarked in the McCully, and steamed up to the falls, which although much reduced in height by the flood, still afford views of striking grandeur. The return trip was accomplished in an hour, the boat reaching her dock shortly after 6 o'clock. A band of musicians discoursed exhilerating and beautiful airs on the boat and at the grounds, making complete the pleasures of the day. About two hundred people attended the excursion, which was unmarred by accident and throughout delightful.

ATTEMPT AT ROBBERY.—While Major Nutt the little man who keeps a down town cigar stand was spreeing early Tuesday morning with a coterie of friends in Noonan's saloon on Oak and First street, he displayed an $80 roll of bills, which so excited the cupidity of Dan Moran, a sailor and longshoreman, that he grabbed it and ran toward Front street. He soon fell in the water, when he was overhauled by an officer and made to surrender the money. He was tried in the police court yesterday, and placed under $500 bonds. During the chase and scuffle, Nutt lost a valuable diamond pin. Moran would doubtless have escaped had not the streets been flooded, and this and the fact that many rats have been drowned by the inundation, may be considered the traditional trifle of sweet in our figurative cup of bitter.

GRASSHOPPER RAVAGES.—A gentleman in this city is in receipt of a letter written by a former resident of Portland, who is at present living near Lewiston, which gives a very discouraging account of the ravages of the grasshoppers in that portion of Idaho. The writer is owner of a ranch about three miles from Lewiston, and this year sowed considerable grain. He states in his letter that the grasshoppers have literally eaten up his entire crop. Other farmers living in that vicinity have sustained similar loss. The writer states that he became so discouraged by reason of the grasshopper ravages that he sold his ranch and intends to leave that part of the country.

THE CONCERT.—The Handel and Hadyn concert to-morrow evening at Masonic Hall will doubtless be the most enjoyable one of the series given by this society during the present season. In addition to the solos and choruses of local talent Mr. Edward Coursen will render a violin solo. The concert is given to subscribing members only, who will reserve their seats to-morrow at 9 A. M. at D. W. Prentice's music store.

ELECTION.—Monday evening the following officers were elected by Court Mount Hood, No. 8490, last evening, to serve for the ensuing term: W. H. Whitwell, C. R.; Wm. H. Jones, S. C. R.; G. S. H. Jackson, Sec.; N. Strohn, S. W.; C. R. Smallbone, J. W.; D. Edwards, S. B.; W. S. Prothero, J. B.; J. P. Burkhart, P. C. R.

SOCIAL.—At the social given at the Unitarian church this evening, in addition to the exercises by the young ladies Mrs. D. F. Smith will favor them with a reading which will add most materially to the enjoyment of the evening. The choir will also repeat by request a quartette given at a former entertainment.

DOMESTIC EXPORTS.—The steamer State of California, on her last trip, carried from Astoria the following quantities of salmon: Astoria Packing Co., 1200 cases; Diamond A, Liverpool, 1000; G. Megler & Co., 1300; Jos. Hume, 1600; Diamond E, Liverpool, 200; A. L., Glasgow, 300. Total, 7400.

POSITION OF PRINCIPAL.—Mr. H. L. Benson, late of San Jose, formerly a school boy in Portland, and a son of Rev. H. C. Benson, at one time editor of the California Christian Advocate, went to Wilbur, Douglas county, last week, to assume the position of principal of the academy at that place.

SOME FINE CURBSTONES.—Messrs. Thompson and Burrell received on one of the vessels from China a lot of handsome, durable granite, which has been dressed and will be used as a curbing at the edge of the sidewalk around New Market block.

INSANE PATIENT.—C. B. Patterson of Benton county, adjudged insane, was committed Monday evening to the East Portland asylum. He is a young man of 29 years, whose father has been a patient at the same institute for six years.

SALMON.—The Astorian says: After the State of California had shipped over 7000 cases, there were still 30,000 cases of salmon left in the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company's warehouse awaiting shipment.

PERSONAL.

Mr. J. Danziger, a young attorney who recently arrived here from Grand Rapids, Michigan, has concluded to reside permanently in Portland and enter into the practice of his profession.

Mr. N. C. Treat of St. Joseph, Mo., traveling agent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, is at the Clarendon. He will visit the Sound and Eastern Oregon before returning home.

W. W. Hubbard of Walla Walla, C. A. White of Portland, and J. J. Parrott of Salem, are in San Francisco. H. W. Scott of Portland, Capt. C. P. Dean of Portland, and Gen. J. W. Forsyth of Walla Walla arrived yesterday at San Francisco over land from the east.

Miss Kate Robinson, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, who has been engaged as one of the teachers in the public schools of that city, for some time, arrived in this city on the steamer Elder. The young lady comes on a visit to her brother in this state. She will probably take a place in one of the public schools of Portland.

Capt. R. H. Lamson, clerk of the United States court, returned Saturday afternoon from a trip to the Spokan country, whither he went with Col. Wood, to attend a council of the Spokan Indians in regard to their settlement either on a reservation or individually. The mission was eminently successful. Chief Geary, with many others, have announced their determination to sever tribal relations, become citizens and take up land under the homestead law.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

P. Selling announces that he is selling out his entire magnificent stock of goods at cost for the next ten days. Read his list of prices and do not fail to give him a call. Prices are low—a perfect slaughter.

B. Hartman & Co. are sole agents for Dr. Warner's sanitary corsets. They have also received a new and elegant line of fancy goods, hosiery, laces, zephyr worsted, ladies underwear and furnishing goods, etc. Low Prices. No. 115 Third street, between Morrison and Yamhill.

WANTED.—Two competent girls to finish dresses. Also a buttonhole maker. To such, permanent employment will be given. Apply immediately at Madame Stavler's, rooms 4 and 12, over Cranby's dry goods store.

Garfield and Arthur or Hancock and English—from these you can select your choice for the highest offices in the gift of the American people, and from the large and complete stock of clothing, etc., of Beck & Waldman you can select something really fine for a light expenditure of money, and no mistake.

OREGON ICE CREAM FACTORY.—Southeast corner Main and Second sts. Picnics, parties, excursions, families furnished on short notice with ice cream and water ices at reasonable prices.

Parties declining housekeeping, who want their household goods sold at auction or private sale, will do well to call on T. J. O'Connor, 64 First street.

Finest Los Angeles honey put up expressly for family use. Smyrna figs, new dates, at Postoffice store, opposite postoffice.

HI-YU CHUCK!

THE WILLAMETTE STEADILY RISING

The Government Works at the Cascades in Great Danger.

Latest Reports from Wallula give Hope that the Columbia has Reached its Highest Stage.

PROBABILITIES, NOTES AND NEWS.

The river here continues to rise steadily at the rate of about one-third of an inch per hour. It is well over First street, but has not covered the sidewalks except below C, and on the lower side of the street near Stark. Business on Front street below Washington is almost suspended. The only transactions are filling small orders for the city and country. All who are within reach of the high water mark of 1876 have made every preparation to be out of the way of the flood. As yet but few elevated sidewalks have been built on Front street and those without gumboots find no means of getting through, except with boats.

Every bit of information concerning the upper Columbia was eagerly sought and thoroughly discussed. Nothing affording the least hope of an abatement of the flood was received until 9 o'clock last night when a telegram from Wallula announced that the river at that point had fallen three inches. It is generally believed that Snake river has passed its highest stage, but that the Columbia above the mouth of the Snake has not. The weather here and on the river has been decidedly cooler, especially during the night, than for the previous week.

The Willamette above the Oregon City falls fell one inch between 8 A. M. and 8 P. M.

The following dispatches indicate the state of the upper Columbia since our last report:

YESTERDAY MORNING'S TELEGRAMS—8 A. M.

Wallula—River rose three inches. Is one foot and eleven inches below the '76 mark.

Umatilla—River standing. Rose two inches between 4 and 9 o'clock A. M. Is two feet and two inches below '76 mark.

Celilo—River rose two inches. Is two feet and one inch below '76 mark.

The Dalles—On a stand. Is six feet below the '76 mark.

Cascades—River rose four inches. Is now two feet and eleven inches below the '76 mark.

AFTERNOON—1 P. M.

Wallula—River at a stand since 8 A. M.

Umatilla—River at a stand. But little drift floating.

Dalles—Strong up stream wind; river rose 2 inches since morning.

Cascades—Strong up stream wind; river rose 2¼ inches since 8 A. M.

THE LATEST.

Wallula, 9 P. M.—River fell three inches; lacks 2 feet 2 inches of '76 mark; cloudy; strong up stream wind.

Celilo, 8 P. M.—River rose 2 inches; clear; strong up stream wind; ther. 74.

Dalles, 10 P. M.—River rose 4 inches since last report; light up stream wind; ther. 84.

Cascades, 8 P. M.—River rose 2¼ inches from 1 to 7 P. M.

The Government Works in Danger.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CASCADES, June 29—6 P. M.—The high water is seriously endangering the government works at the Cascades locks. Last night the bulkhead or embankment upon which the safety of the whole work depends, gave away, but Lieut. Powell, with a large force of men, promptly repaired the break. It is feared that a rise of six inches or a foot will carry it away entirely.

Flood Notes.

Astoria at this time is not the only "Venice of the Northwest."

The carriers of THE OREGONIAN still continue their rounds undaunted by the high water.

First street at Stark and at Washington is afloat. Street cars now run only between Washington and the southern terminus.

The first floor of THE OREGONIAN building is under water. The business office during the flood will be in the editorial rooms up stairs.

The Western Union wires were submerged in several places in East Portland yesterday, but were promptly raised out of reach of high water.

We would suggest to those who build elevated walks to make them at least three feet wide. Narrow gauge walks are anything but convenient.

A photograph of the scene of the 1876 flood in First street was displayed in a prominent show window yesterday with the inscription "To be or not to be."

The flood has caused no small inconvenience to the Bell Telephone Company, who have been obliged to move the batteries from the first floor of many stores.

The O. & C. track at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon was submerged from one to four inches, but the Roseburg train, the Albany express and the evening freight train pulled through to the lower ferry.

Wells, Fargo & Co. continue to call for goods at all stores accessible with wagons. If their office shall be flooded (an expected contingency) Col. Evans will remove to Mansell's new building, corner First and Columbia, which he has rented.

The sidewalks on the west side of First street were fairly jammed last night. Large crowds from all portions of the city passed down the street towards the Clarendon, where the water is deepest, and as the braces occupy about half the sidewalk, locomotion was quite difficult.

The water still lacks about six inches of covering the O. & C. track at the L street depot. Passengers to-day will leave L street, crossing on Stark street ferry. To-morrow and until further notice they will leave the dock at the foot of Taylor street, landing at U street on the east side.

The Belgian pavement on Front which was laid as far south as Stark, proves a great convenience to teams. They have a safe and not heavy approach to the Stark street ferry, and are enabled to avoid Stark from Front to First which is anything but secure. The hard pavement gives a sure footing to horses, and allows some hauling to be done from stores.

Probabilities.

At 1 o'clock this morning the Willamette stood a trifle over 26 feet and 11 inches above high water mark, a rise of 8 inches in the past 24 hours. It lacks nearly 16 inches of reaching the 1876 high water mark. With no additional rise in the Columbia, the river here will reach about 27 feet 4 inches by 12 o'clock to-night and about 27 feet 6 inches by Thursday morning at 8. Many persons whose opinions are entitled to some weight maintain that there is enough water on the way from Wallula to bring the Willamette up to 28 feet.

The quantity of snow yet in the mountains, and the effect its melting will have on the Upper Columbia and Snake rivers, are subjects about which so little is known, that it is as safe to predict the flood will far exceed that of 1876, as it is to say that the flood will reach its maximum Thursday noon.

BRIEF NOTES.

State Fair will open to-morrow.

Good weather for the gumboot traffic.

Basements on Front street no good now.

We are enjoying the water boom at present.

Look out for sickness when the water recedes.

Rough on strawberry beds down the Columbia.

Handel and Haydn concert to-morrow evening.

The State Fair this year promises to be a big success.

The steamer Oregon will sail for Portland this morning.

The steamer Elder will sail hence on Friday morning.

Both political parties are getting down to solid work now.

Some very exciting tests of speed are expected at the state Fair.

The sound of the carpenter's hammer is heard in this broad land.

The country roads are in much better condition than portions of Front and First streets.

Portland is a little like Venice. There is plenty of water on the streets, but nary a gondola.

The Retail Clerks' Association will hold a meeting this evening at 8 P. M. at Handel and Haydn Hall.

Well, Bob asked Sallie to be his'n,
She told him, "Nay," with many a sob,
And ever since that trying season
He's called himself a poor may Bob.

The last rehearsal for the Handel and Haydn concert to be given Thursday evening, will be held at 8 P. M. this Wednesday evening at Masonic Hall. A full attendance is requested.

An exchange contains the following appropriate acrostic on James A. Garfield:

Joy bells are madly sounding
A nation's song of jubilee!
Men and women hearts uplifting
Everlasting God to Thee!
Strong, and pure, and faithful ever,

A soldier true, a statesman tried,

Generous both to foe and brother,
A nation's friend, a nation's pride,
Race and station all forgetting
Fast and thick the ranks are filled,
In the conquest quick oncoming,
Every petty tumult stilled,
Lead us onward, hero, soldier,
Do the work which God has willed.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

Report of the Summer Night's Musical Festival.

The ladies of the Relief Society gratefully acknowledge their obligations to the Heyman Marriner-Campbell Concert Company, to the ladies and gentlemen of the chorus, and to Mr. B. F. Goodwin for their valuable services on Saturday evening at the Pavilion; to the board of trade the proprietors of New Market Theater and the Masonic Building Association for their loan of chairs on the occasion; to the gentlemen who so kindly assisted in the sale of tickets, and to the press for their liberal notices and generous deduction from regular charges.

Below they submit a statement of the expenses incurred and the net profits of the festival:

Gross receipts	$824 80
EXPENSES.
Rent of pavilion	$ 25 00
Gas	21 55
Preparing pavilion	20 00
Monell's bill for moving chairs loaned	65 93
Chairs hired from I. F. Powers (12 doz)	15 00
Advertising	34 00
Programmes and tickets (Allee & Beebe)	41 00
Distributing programmes	1 00
Conductor and orchestra	100 00
Firemen	2 50
Ushers, &c	19 00
Doorkeeper	1 50
Telephone and messenger	1 60
J. K. Gill & Co., for labels	1 75
Carriages	7 00
Cartage	75
Total expenses	$364 95
Net receipts	$460 85
Relief Society's share	$230 42

The sale of ice cream and lemonade netted the sum of 75 cents to the dealer over and above its expenses.

It may be proper to add that this benefit was entirely unsolicited by the society. The proposition came from the Heyman Marriner Campbell Concert Company. MARY H. HOLBROOK, President Ladies's Relief Society.

PORTLAND, June 29, 1880.

TILLAMOOK LIGHTHOUSE NOTES.

[Astorian]

The laying of stone for the Tillamook rock lighthouse has commenced. The first course has been placed in position. The George Harley will leave this afternoon for the rock, having on board another supply of stone.

Nothing could be more simple and at the same time more perfectly adapted to the purpose than the steam hoisting apparatus on board the wrecking steamer George Harley. By it the heaviest stones or other material are hoisted and handled with ease and placed forward, aft, or in the hold, as easily as if carried by hand.

The steamers George Harley and Mary Taylor returned from Tillamook rock at 6 P. M. on Sunday. The Harley landed about 75 tons of stone to be used in the construction of the lighthouse, and Capt. Dodge informs us that the stones were transferred from the steamer to the rock without the slightest difficulty or delay, the weather and the sea enabling his vessel to haul in close enough for the derrick on the rock to swing out and hoist the material from her deck. The Mary Taylor also landed several barrels of water and other supplies with equal facility.

THE BEN. HOLLADAY CLAIM.

Under the caption of "a bill in chancery," the San Francisco Call of a late issue contains the following:

"Ben. Holladay has a claim before congress for services performed and losses sustained as a mail contractor during the civil war, which has hung fire there for some 14 years. The claim was several times reported upon favorably, and the bill appropriating money for its payment has more than once—as its friends believed—been on the eve of passage. Just before the adjournment senator Cameron, of Wisconsin, moved to lay aside all previous business, that the bill might be put upon its passage, but certain other senators—among them Conkling and Wallace of Pennsylvania—filibustered to kill time, and the bill again went over. Now, one of two things is true in reference to this claim—it is meritorious, or it is not. In the former case it should have been allowed years ago, and in the latter it ought to be thrown out of congress, which has spent so much time in its consideration. Mr. Holladay is not as rich as he was at one time, and it is said is in need of the money."

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

THE CITY LEVEE.

The Oregonian Railway Company Claim the Right to Own the Public Levee—Litigation Inevitable.

The possession of the public levee seeks at present to be a much vexed question, and promises to become a fruitful source of litigation. Some time ago the Oregonian Railway Company petitioned the common council for the use of a portion of the public levee for the purpose of using it as a depot. The petition was referred to the appropriate committee, who, after a careful examination of the matter, decided adversely to granting the petition. The Oregonian Railway Company at once instituted proceedings against the city of Portland for the possession of the levee, claiming the right to condemn, own and use it for the public good. Pending the trial of the case on its merits the company sent a small force of men yesterday up to the levee, who commenced work. The men began to grade on the levee and to remove the earth back on the bank just west, which was recently purchased by the company. On being notified of the action of the company, Mr. Wm. Braden, superintendent of streets, proceeded to the levee and demanded, in behalf of the city, that operations cease at once. However, the men, under instructions from the company, declined to obey the order of the superintendent. Mr. Wm. Reid, president of the Oregonian Railway Company, asked to be enjoined so that that matter could be determined by the courts. Mr. Moreland, the city attorney, is opposed to getting out an injunction to restrain the company. He is of the opinion that the proper course to pursue is to proceed against the company charging them with trespass. Just what course will be pursued is not known at present, but it is quite probable that the attention of the grand jury in the state circuit court will be called to the matter.

Elsewhere will be found a communication from Mr. Reid, addressed to the city attorney. Matters now present a somewhat complicated aspect.

We Challenge the World

When we say we believe we have evidence to prove that Shiloh's Consumption Cure is decidedly the best Lung Medicine made, inasmuch as it will cure a common or Chronic Cough in one half the time, and relieve Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, and show more cases of Consumption cured than all others. It will cure where they fail, it is pleasant to take, harmless to the youngest child, and we guarantee what we say. Price 10 cts, 50 cents and $1. If your Lungs are sore, Chest or Back lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by S. G. Skidmore & Co., druggists, 151 First street, Portland, Oregon.

Various Causes—

Advancing years, care, sickness, disappointment and hereditary predisposition—all operate to turn the hair gray, and either of them inclines it to shed prematurely. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR will restore faded or gray, light and red hair to a rich brown or deep black, as may be desired. It softens and cleanses the scalp, giving it a healthy action, and removes and cures dandruff and humors. By its use falling hair is checked, and a new growth will be produced in all cases where the follicles are not destroyed or glands decayed. Its effects are beautifully shown on brashy, weak or sickly hair, to which a few applications will produce the gloss and freshness of youth. Harmless and sure in its operation, it is incomparable as a dressing, and is especially valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts. It contains neither oil nor dye and will not soil or color white cambric yet it lasts long on the hair and keeps it fresh and vigorous. For sale by all dealers. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, wholesale agents.

GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER.

It is natural for people suffering with Dyspepsia and Fever Complaint or any derangement of the digestive organs, such as sour stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness, palpitation of the Heart, Heart-burn, Water-brash, gnawing and burning pains at the pit of the Stomach, Yellow Skin, Coated Tongue, and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up of food after eating, low spirits, etc., to put off from day to day buying an article that they know has cured their neighbor, friend, or relative, yet they have no faith in it until it is too late. But if you will go to your druggist and get a bottle of Green's August Flower your immediate cure is as certain as you live. Sample Bottles of this medicine can be obtained for 10 cents to try its superior virtue. Regular size 75 cents. Try it, two doses will relieve a case.

THE OREGON KIDNEY TEA!

Read the following testimonials, not from persons 3,000 miles away, whom no one knows but from well known and trustworthy citizens of Oregon, whose names, written with their own hands, can be seen at our office:

Independence, Oregon, December 13, 1879.

Both myself and wife have been for some years afflicted with diseases of the kidneys, and had tried many remedies without obtaining any permanent relief. About three months ago we were induced to try a package of the Oregon Kidney Tea, which has apparently entirely cured both of us, as since taking it two weeks we have felt no symptoms of the disease. We can heartily recommend it to others similarly afflicted, as we believe it will do all that is claimed. M. L. WHITE.

Astoria, Oregon, December 28, 1879.

I take pleasure in testifying to the merits of the Oregon Kidney Tea. For the past three years I have been suffering from Kidney troubles and during the time have tried nearly every kind of Kidney medicine in the market, almost without any relief. Having heard that the Oregon Kidney Tea possessed wonderful properties, I purchased a package, and from the first dose obtained relief and by the use of the one package feel completely cured. THE DOUBLE LESSON.

"Have you told me the whole truth, now, Lillian, about the gentleman I saw you talking with upon the bridge?—the whole truth, remember."

"Yes, indeed, indeed, Reginald," she exclaimed, looking at him piteously, with her for-get-me-not eyes swiming in tears, and her little childish hands clasped in supplication.

"I wish I could believe you, but I don't?" groaned Reginald Trevor, starting up and beginning to pace the floor angrily, while his fragile little wife sobbed aloud in her excitement and terror. "If you did not meet that man by appointment, what made you pretend to have a headache, to get rid of coming down to tea; and what made you when we were all seated at the table, go stealing out the back way instead of the front, and walk straight there and nowhere else? And why did you look so frightened when you saw me. Tell me that, will you?"

"I—I thought the air would do me good, and I didn't want to disturb you. Indeed, indeed, it is true, Regie, dear."

"And what made your polite acquaintance turn and go off as though he had been shot out of a gun, the moment he saw me coming? No, no, Lily, it won't do. Your very terror how contradicts your story. Will you tell me the truth, or shall I wring it out of that man?"

Lily rose to her feet trembling, her tender face waxed white, but strangely calm.

"If you will let me, I will go back to my aunt, Reginald. That is the best place for me now."

Reginald Trevor's stern, handsome face grew a shade paler, and his hand clenched and unclenched nervously. If he could only believe her!—his little snowdrop, that he had sheltered in his bosom, and whose purity and truth he would have sworn to.

"Will you tell me that man's name, Lily?" he asked more gently.

"No, Reginald," was the firm reply. "You had doubted me. I will not put it in your power to question another concerning me."

"I will find him, nevertheless. I should know his sneaking, handsome face among a thousand," cried Reginald, passionately, as Lily, pale, but stately as a queen, swept past him to the door.

She was back again very shortly, dressed for going out, and looking like a snowy water lily, in her soft white furs, with her dove eyes and colorless face. She paused beside the door.

"Have you any objection to my going to my aunt's?" she asked.

Reginald strode across the room, with his back to the door. He did not answer. She crossed the apartment and just touched his arm with her gloved hand.

"Have you any objection to my going to my aunt's?" she asked.

"Will you tell me that man's name?"

A faint tremor crept round Lily's lips, but she looked him steadily in the face, and answered:

"No."

"The sooner you go to your aunt's, then, and the longer you stay, the better I shall be pleased," he said, with cold bitterness.

With a deep, inward sigh, the wife turned swiftly away, nor paused till she knocked at the door of a handsome residence, a few streets of.

A sprightly little lady, whose resemblance to Lily Trevor marked her at once for that aunt who had almost since her babyhood supplied a mother's place to the orphan, rose eagerly from under the glow of the chandelier at sight of her.

"Why, Lily!" was her dismayed articulation.

"Dear auntie, don't question me, please; I've quarreled with Reginald, that is all," Lily said, hysterically.

"But, Lily——"

"Aunt Myra, it can't be helped now, and I dare say I was just as much to blame as he was. Let it settle itself, won't you."

Aunt Myra looked as though she doubted the chances of such an event; but she said no more. She knew something of Lily's firmness.

The matter, indeed, did not seem inclined to settle itself in a hurry. Lily waited in vain for some sign of her husband. She sent for her trunk in course of the next day, and it came without a word.

A week passed, and then Lily grew paler day by day, and Reginald more desolate. Neither gave one sign to the other. As Reginald was returning from the club one evening, he found himself between two men, who were talking in low but sufficiently distinct tones. It was some moments before he took enough note of their conversation to discover that they were talking of him.

"Disgraceful?" said one. "I should think so; and I haven't a single doubt, myself, that Trevor is the one to blame. He was always a haughty, jealous, tyrannical fellow. Lily Ramsay was a great deal too many for him."

"I don't know about that—Trevor has good qualities—a trifle too proud, perhaps, and inclined to be jealous, we used to think, but a good fellow."

"I wouldn't swear by the goodness of any fellow that could quarrel this way with a girl like Lily Ramsay within six months after he married her. When a man takes a woman to love, cherish and protect, he don't do it, to my notion, by making his house so hot that she is very glad to stay out of it."

Reginald Trevor quickened his pace and passed the two gentlemen unrecognized. He had heard enough to irritate him excessively. There might not be one particle of justification for these men speaking as they did of him; but as he paced angrily homeward the words kept recurring to him. "Haughty, jealous, tyrannical!" Was that Lily's opinion of him, he wondered?

He walked round by Mrs. Ramsay's house, keeping upon the opposite side of the way, and regarding the mansion stealthily as he passed, though it was too dark for any one to see him. At the corner he even hesitated as a slender shadow crossed the blind, which might be Lily's. Then murmuring, "No; I told her the longer she stayed the better I should be pleased, and so I shall, till she comes to her senses." He hurried gloomily home.

But his fate was not in his own hands. That night his house was entered by burglars. And though he succeeded in routing them, he was severely injured by a blow upon the head from some heavy instrument in the hands of one, so that for three days his life was considered exceedingly doubtful.

The news came upon Lily without warning. She was bending over some work, but not sewing the stitches, for tears. She put down her work almost with a smile.

"Aunty," she said, "that means me. God is better to Regie and me than we deserve; He won't die, trust me for that."

Reginald Trevor did not die; and good Doctor Mortimer, who surmised something of the state of things, told him very plainly that he owed his life to his wife more than to his doctor.

"Was I haughty, jealous and tyrannical?" was Reginald's first question of Lily, as he feebly drew her little hands to his lips.

Those very words had haunted his delirium. Lily smiles through her tears.

"Not more than I was foolish and willful," she said, gently. "The man who you saw me talking with was the husband of my sister, who lives in Jersey, as you know. I spoke to him reluctantly, and I did not want you to meet him. I had no idea of seeing him when I went out; and if you had not lost your temper so soon I should have told you all there was to tell, though I didn't like to talk about it. Shall we begin again, Regie?"

"My darling, yes."

NEW YORK FREIGHTS AND MARKETS.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, June 29.—There are no material changes to note in the condition of the California freight market via Cape Horn, it remaining very quiet with no visible signs of improvement. The ship Joy has cleared and finished her loading to night, and will be the last departure for the month. Isthmus freights remain very dull, and the departure on the 1st prox. will have but a very light cargo for the California market.

The general merchandise market does not show much life.

Breadstuffs—Dull, irregular.
Wheat—Edge lower on free deliveries.
Provisions—Unsettled, with weakening tendency.
Rio Coffee—Moderate demand, former quotes advance since Saturday.
Refined Sugars—Fairly active, very firm.
Hides—Dull.
Turpentine—More active, lower, 35c.
Petroleum—Firm.

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this will be is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

POISON

Spurts of disgusting mucous from the nostrils or upon the tonsils, Watery Eyes, Snuffles, Buzzing in the Ears, Deafness, Crackling sensations in the Head, Intermittent Pains over the Eyes, Fœtid Breath, Nasal Twang, Scabs in the Nostrils, and Tickling in the Throat are

SIGNS of CATARRH.

No other such loathsome, treacherous and undermining malady curses mankind. One-fifth of our Children die of diseases generated by its Infectious Poison, and one-fourth of living men and women drag out miserable existences from the same cause. While asleep, the impurities in the nostrils are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs to poison every part of the system.

Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure absorbs the purulent virus and kills the seeds of poison in the farthest parts of the system. It will not only relieve, but certainly cure Catarrh at any stage. It is the only remedy which in our judgment, has ever yet really cured a case of Chronic Catarrh.

DR. SPINNEY,

No. 11 Kearny Street.

Treats all Chronic and Special Diseases

YOUNG MEN

WHO MAY BE SUFFERING FROM THE effects of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

Office Hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8. Sundays from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice, $5. Call or address

DR. SPINNEY & CO., No. 11 Kearny street, San Francisco.
